Remarks :

This 3 cabin Oceanis 440 offers exceptional comfort aboard coupled with the sparkling performance expected from a hull by Bruce Farr.

A great deal of thought has gone into the layout and design both above and below decks to make the yacht easy to handle and comfortable to live aboard. The fully battened mainsail and furling genoa are easily handled by one person from the safety of the cockpit. The water capacity of approximately 850 litres allows for cruising for extended periods.

The deck layout is well thought out with a large sail locker on the foredeck aft of the anchor locker, the side decks are wide and are easy to move around. There is a large area of foredeck ideal for sunbathing, or storing a dinghy. In the cockpit the rounded edges and wide seats make it very comfortable both underway or when just enjoying the view.

The main salon has the galley to port, and a very large dinette with wraparound seating to the center and starboard. The dinette seats six or seven comfortably and could seat a few more in a pinch. Navigation station to starboard, and a head which can be entered from the salon or the port side aft cabin.

The aft cabins have large double berths, a hanging locker, shelving.

Comfortable space and lots of storage.

There is nice teak paneling throughout the whole boat, at least 6' 2" headroom in all cabins..
