Remarks :

Moody 336 (1990) She has a spacious design, although with an aft cockpit rather than the brand's more usual centre cockpit.

The quarter cabin arrangement is different to most, with the double bunk located under the cockpit and therefore more standing, lounging and storage space than might otherwise be expected. There's also a large saloon, excellent galley and navigation station and decent-sized fore cabin.

Though most owners buy Moodys for the considerable comforts they offer, they were meticulously constructed and have excellent sea-keeping abilities too.in well maintained condition.

Highlights listed below but included in full specification:

- * Only two private owners
- * EU VAT paid
- * Well maintained

A very tidy example of these popular cruisers.
