Accommodation

The interior of this Oceanis 41 (3-cabin layout) is bright, comfortable and intelligently designed to maximize space and livability for cruising families or guests.

Forward is a spacious owner's cabin with a generous double berth, ample stowage, and excellent natural light from deck hatches and portlights. The cabin offers hanging lockers and shelving to keep personal gear organized underway or at anchor.

Aft, two well-proportioned double cabins provide comfortable accommodation for family or crew, each with generous storage, good headroom, and easy access to the saloon. The layout strikes a superb balance between private sleeping areas and shared living space, making it ideal for extended cruising.

The central saloon is inviting and functional, with a large U-shaped settee and straight settee opposite, seating comfortably around the dining table, perfect for social meals or relaxation. Natural light floods the space through large hull windows, creating a bright and welcoming living area. Practical storage is thoughtfully integrated throughout.

Opposite the companionway, the galley is well laid out for serious cruising, featuring a two-burner stainless-steel hob with oven and grill, microwave, refrigerator, double sink, and generous countertop space.

The overall feel of the interior combines classic Beneteau style with clean lines and functional ergonomics. This 3-cabin version provides generous comfort below deck without compromising sailing performance, making it a versatile choice for coastal cruising or longer passages.
