Accommodation

The Draco Zircon 3400 can sleep up to 8. She has a large forward double, a twin berth aft cabin which makes into a double. The saloon table converts into another double as does the cockpit seating and table. She has a good-sized heads with shower. The galley has a gas hob and oven, twin sinks, a refrigerator and plenty of dry storage. The saloon has good head height and is light and spacious. There is a pressurized hot and cold water system throughout including the transom shower. Both forward and aft cabins have wardrobes.

Remarks :

'Making Waves ' is a great example of the Draco Zircon 3400 sports cruiser. She is in good condition throughout and has been well-maintained by her current owner. She has excellent accommodation, offering two comfortable cabins with double berths and a spacious, bright saloon with a folding dining table which converts into a double berth. The galley is well-appointed with a gas hob, oven, refrigerator and twin sinks. The Draco Zircon 3400 is a great seaboat powered by twin Volvo Kad engines which have been regularly serviced. The cockpit has a full tent, comfortable seating and a folding table, which converts into a sun bed. The swimming platform is easily accessed through transom gates and has a hot shower. 'Making Waves ' is afloat in Lymington and can be viewed seven days a week.
