Accommodation

Interior

Finished in cherry wood; two double cabins occupy the ends of the boat, with the after cabin as the traditional and plush owners' accommodation with en-suite.

Just forward of this, in the walkway area sits a dedicated seaberth, where feet extend into a trotter box. The fourth cabin is set on the port side, forward of the main saloon, comprising twin bunks.

The saloon holds two leather clad armchairs on the stbd side (which can be lifted out to provide stools) and a large C-shaped seating area to port. The galley comprises a 4 ring/grill and oven cooker, 2 sinks, freezer, refrigerator, icebox and microwave.

Holding tank and inline mascerator to forward heads

Remarks :

This is a fine example of a Moody 46 built in Plymouth in 1998 then she was briefly used by Moody, as a demonstrator in Scotland before being sold and ultimately moved aboard where she has remained in recent years.

Offering the typical Moody build quality and solid bluewater cruiser attributes this boat is a superb choice for anyone wanting to spend extended periods of time aboard.

Viewing highly recommended.
