Remarks :

The ever-popular model from Fairline the Targa 33 is a lovely example of great design principles and build quality from the British builder and, although this particular example requires some modernising and general tidying, she offers an excellent platform and could be refurbished to her former glories without too much effort.

The cockpit offers u-shaped seating to the rear with two bench seats forward for all the family to get up and enjoy the ride, the helm provides a commanding view and all the controls within easy reach including a bow thruster and Lowrance plotter.

Below decks the saloon comprises of a large seating area with a large open berth forward of this, whilst the galley to port aft is well proportioned and offers good cooking facilities, to starboard there is the heads compartment and aft of the saloon is a separated cabin with double berth.

Asking price reflective of current condition and potential.

Part exchange considered and finance available.
