Accommodation

When you enter the Jeanneau Merry Fisher 605 via the large sliding doors, the galley is on the starboard side, here you have a sink and a space for a removable gas stove as well as a space for kettle. The pilots seat located forward of the galley also moves upwards allowing for more useful space.

On the port-side you have the saloon, here you have space to comfortably seat 4 people around a large table. The table can also lower into a double berth with the help of an infill. One of the seats in the saloon is also reversible meaning it can be made into a co-pilot seat allowing you to face forward when underway.

In the bow you will be see a double berth allowing for two people to comfortably sleep with the help of a triangular infill, this allows for extra room within the cabin.

The bright, open feel of the Merry Fisher 605 is iconic and favourable with many customers, there is no feel of crampedness and it comfortably allows you to relax in any time of the year.
