Remarks :

Kirie Feeling 346 of the French Kyrie shipyard, is a fine sailing, spacious and complete ship.

The layout of the deck and cockpit is practical, the deck layout is spacious and provides sufficient overview. All lines are led to the cockpit, trimming of the mainsail and the furling genoa can be done from the cockpit.

Inside you will find the saloon, with the galley to starboard, which is longitudinally arranged and of course equipped with the most practical items, such as running water, Nelson 2 burner, oven and grill and refrigerator. More forward to starboard is the navigation corner, to port is the seating area with longitudinal bench and dining table. The interior is light and practical, the use of light wood and light grey/blue upholstery gives the whole a cozy, maritime look. The ship is equipped with 3 double cabins, in the forepeak a double bed with the necessary storage space and a second and third cabin in the stern. The saloon easily converts into a spacious and airy double by dropping the table and using a matching mattress insert and a futon. The vessel comes as seen which includes a comprehensive range of tools and spares. Items carried but not currently fitted include prop shaft rope cutter , deck safety linen, side screens and a side screen, water/fuel collapsible trolley, 25lt water container, swim gear container, large canvas boom awning. The vessel also comes with sheets, duvets , pillows, towels, cushions etc which the purchaser may want to keep or dispose of.

There is a range of manuals for most of the equipment carried including the engine. There are a number of navigational equipment including charts and pilots, dividers, plotters, pencils and so on which are servisable but sold as seen.
