1933 Scottish sailboat built by the shipyards on the River Clyde in Scotland. It also stands out for its beauty by its spacious coverage and its capacity for 12 people (10 +2). It has a length of 10.85 meters and a beam of 3.02 meters with an obvious deck.

The boat needs love and works to leave it in optimal conditions, although she works without problems. But you have to be aware that she needs carpentry, electronics and painting. It is a wonderful project for lovers of the sea. The owner bought it in a lamentable state and invested a lot of time and love restoring it. The boat sails perfectly today. The ship is located on the 6th Spanish list since 2004 and belongs to a society. It is sold by business strategy change. The boat needs investment to put it up to date about € 5,000 in electronics, review of carpentry and painting. It already depends on the new owner and what he wants to spend, but as said, the ship has never stopped working and can start giving an income to you.
