Rustler 31 for sale. Built in 1966, designed by Kim Holman and built by Russell Anstey Yachts in Poole. The Rustler 31 has become a well known and respected class of yacht.

"Seaweed" has mostly been stripped out and was intended to be adapted to participate in the Jester Challenge some years ago, a solo race across the Atlantic, sadly the previous owner was unable to complete the project, and "Seaweed" remains a project boat that requires a complete fit out including engine, electrics, plumbing etc etc. She has bulkheads in place, partial saloon and galley joinery and some sole boards. The boat has also had her companionway modified to form a round top opening hatch. She has been adapted to be fitted with a junk style rig, the mast included, but she requires sails, rigging, deck fittings etc.

"Seaweed" has the potential to be a stunning yacht and once the project is complete, together with her beautiful lines and proven seaworthiness, Seaweed is sure to be a beautiful yacht that would turn heads.
