Accommodation

The Pacific Allure 50 stands out for its spaciousness and comfort in all its spaces.

Starting with a spacious deck with a large sundeck at the bow, a spacious lounge with a sofa and table at the stern and in the middle the spacious comfortable command post with 360 views over the entire boat.

From each of the sides of the stern of the deck two semi-snail stairs go down that lead us to a large bathing platform where we find the hydraulic platform that lifts the dinghy from the water with a very dissimilar scoop system.

The entrance to the cabin is located to the port side of the command post in the middle of the boat. Some stairs take us to the main living room divided into two levels, the highest with a spacious living room with a sofa and the second level where we find a complete kitchen that has nothing to envy to a kitchen in an apartment and a large dining table with couch.

The entire main room has magnificent light thanks to its large windows in impeccable condition.

All the woods are solid and in very good condition.

At the bow we find a double suite with its own bathroom divided into two spaces on the port side for the toilet and on the starboard side for the separate shower room.

Aft of the main saloon a corridor leads us to the "children's" cabin made up of two bunk beds. In this room hidden behind a false closet is the engine room that is also a watertight "panic room" in case of need.

And further aft we find the spacious master suite with a double bed and its own full bathroom.
